Catalino jump started his career as a tattoo artist with assistance from Youth@Work.

CATALINO'S STORY

Catalino Meza-Torrez was working as a local farmworker when he decided to join CSET's Youth@Work program. He was seeking assistance to obtain his dream career as a tattoo artist. After reaching out to several partners, Youth@Work staff found a perfect partnership for Catalino at La Raza Tattoo Shop. Upon receiving the news of his internship, he jumped with joy. Catalino completed his training and was soon hired on full time as a tattoo artist for La Raza Tattoo Shop. "Catalino is the epitome of determination. He has planted a seed of hope within the farmworker community and has referred many peers to the Youth@Work program," expressed Career Engagement Coach Lupe Moreno. Since his involvement with the Youth@Work program, Catalino continued to share his experience with others and is grateful to all those who have helped him achieve his career goal. He thanks CSET's Youth@Work and La Raza Tattoo Shop for providing him with an amazing experience during his training in the program. We wish Catalino all the best as he looks forward to opening his own tattoo shop soon.
